ORDER OF THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

President, Board of Trustees, and Administrative Officers
Official Guests
Faculty
Candidates for Advanced Degrees
Class of 2015

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The significance of the academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

Doctors wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor's hood is large. The doctor may choose to wear the gold tassel on the cap.

Masters wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master's hood is of more moderate size.

Bachelors wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white), fine arts (brown), music (pink), or science (golden yellow).

Commencement Speaker

STEVEN E. SNOW

Elder Steven E. Snow was called in March 2001 as a member of the First Quorum of the Seventy of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He served from 2007 to 2012 as a member of the Presidency of the Seventy. Currently he is Church Historian and Recorder as well as executive director of the Church History Department.

"I love learning the stories of the history of our people," says Elder Snow. He enjoys exploring recently uncovered records and journals of Church history and also capturing the Church's international story. "Members outside the U.S. love the history of the Church in North America," he says, "but they also resonate with the stories of the pioneers in their own lands."

A native of St. George, Utah, Elder Snow married Phyllis Squire. Sister Snow says her husband is an exceptional leader because he loves all people. He is interested in hearing from all sides and then is able to guide the discussion to a conclusion in which everyone feels they were listened to and their needs were met. This quality served him well in his law practice as he often helped clients work through their problems without always having to resort to the courts.

Elder Snow relishes reading a physical newspaper. He loves the feel and the smell of the news. He also enjoys the outdoors, though he has found himself hiking miles on a broken foot, being caught in a flash flood, or rolling down a sandstone hill. Still, he looks forward to each new adventure with his sons, friends, or grandchildren. When he is around, his grandchildren invariably hear adventurous bedtime stories that feature grandchildren saving the day at the last minute.

Having always had an active interest in education, he has an accounting degree from Utah State University and a juris doctorate from Brigham Young University. "I have felt there was no better cause than furthering opportunities for education among our children and young adults," says Elder Snow, who has served as president of a school board, chair of the Utah State Board of Regents, and chair of the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

In 2012 President Obama appointed Elder Snow to the advisory council on Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships. He is the first Latter-day Saint to have a seat on this council.

People often tell Sister Snow how much they enjoy working with Elder Snow because he "gets it." His love, leadership, and friendly nature leave people feeling valued. Sister Snow says Elder Snow loves meeting new people and learning from their experiences.

We thank Elder Steven E. Snow for his extraordinary service and are honored to have him as our commencement speaker today.

Honorary Doctoral Degree

ROBERT P. GEORGE

The New York Times calls Princeton professor Robert P. George "the Conservative-Christian Big Thinker." Others have called him "one of the biggest brains in America." Through his pervasive and persuasive writings he has ensured religion and morality remain an important consideration in the public conversation.

George is the McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence and founder and director of the James Madison Program in American Ideals and Institutions at Princeton University. He is a visiting professor at Harvard Law School and has served as chair of the U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom.

George is the eldest of five brothers from the West Virginia hills. "We were quite a rambunctious group," he says. He enjoyed a Huck Finn–type boyhood that included hunting, fishing, and plucking bluegrass music on the guitar and the banjo—instruments he now plays in New Jersey venues such as the Arts Council of Princeton. "He plays a mean banjo," says Catholic Archbishop Charles Chaput, who knows George well. "He is as good on the banjo as he is at the podium."

After graduating from Swarthmore College and Harvard Law School, George earned a master's degree in theology from Harvard and a doctorate in philosophy of law from Oxford University. He has received numerous honorary doctorate degrees.

George often voices his conservative political views through writing, and his byline has landed in many scholarly and journalistic outlets, such as the Harvard Law Review, the Yale Law Journal, the New York Times, the Wall Street Journal, and the Washington Post. He has authored and coauthored several books, including Making Men Moral: Civil Liberties and Public Morality (1993) and What Is Marriage? (2012).

Through First Things, a political journal and blog, George shows that religious faith has a place in shaping public conversation and public policy. George tackles tough topics and makes them accessible to political laymen.

Promoting cooperation among people of faith is a high priority for George. "I regard it as part of my vocation as a scholar and as a Christian," he says. This year he received awards for his work from Muslim, LDS, and evangelical Protestant organizations. George said these honors mean more to him than others because promoting understanding and cooperation among believers is such an important part of what he does.

As a professor, George mentors students searching for something more in their lives than their own self-interest. "He leads people to understand that permanent truths about the world and the human condition exist and that real freedom can't be had unless it is grounded in those truths," says Archbishop Chaput.

For his sharp thinking and abundant influence and for being an educator, leader, devout Catholic, truth seeker, and supporter of family values, Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Robert P. George the degree of doctor of law and moral values, honoris causa.

Honorary Doctoral Degree

CECIL O. SAMUELSON

From 2003 until 2014 President Cecil O. Samuelson worked tirelessly as president of Brigham Young University, leaving a high watermark of leadership and service for the BYU community. A graduate and longtime professor and administrator of the University of Utah, President Samuelson reflected on his out-of-the-blue appointment to serve as BYU's president, observing:

"When I was called by President Gordon B. Hinckley to take this leadership assignment at BYU, he said, 'We would like you to . . . put on a blue coat.' By that he meant he expected and charged us with putting all our loyalties, energies, and enthusiasm behind the cause that we know as Brigham Young University. Even in the face of our obvious inadequacies, we believe we have done so."

Even at age two his propensity for leadership and propriety was manifest when he insisted his family stop calling him by the nickname "Sammy" and start using his proper name, Cecil.

After serving a mission to Scotland he married the former Sharon Giauque, starting what has proven to be an extraordinary team for more than fifty years. Following his BYU inauguration, a student asked the president what his favorite kind of Jell-O was. "We've had thirty-nine years of happy marriage," President Samuelson replied, "and I hope you understand the dynamics. My favorite kind of Jell-O is the kind she puts before me."

Dr. Samuelson graduated from the University of Utah with a medical degree and a master's degree in educational psychology. After a fellowship at Duke, he returned to the University of Utah to work as the assistant dean of admissions and as a faculty member at the medical school.

"He's darn smart," said colleague and former University of Utah president Chase Peterson. "That lets him do more in an hour that the rest of us can do when we muddle along slower."

"Medicine is fundamentally a mission of service," President Samuelson said, reflecting on his chosen profession, "and service is what Jesus wants us all to be doing."

In 1990 he became a high-level administrator at Intermountain Healthcare, and just four years later he was called as a member of the Seventy of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, serving as president of the Church's Europe North and Utah North Areas, as the Sunday School general president, and as a member of the Presidency of the Seventy.

At BYU he was well loved by students, who showed their affection by shouting "Whoosh, Cecil!" after every successful Cougar basketball free throw, to which he would give a thumbs-up. The ice cream called Whoosh, Cecil! has become a campus favorite.

The Samuelsons now serve as president and matron of the Salt Lake Temple and enjoy time with their family—especially their grandchildren.

For his extraordinary service to BYU, for his furthering of the profession of "the Healer's art," and for his service as a faithful Church leader, Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Cecil O. Samuelson the degree of doctor of education and Christian service, honoris causa.

DOCTORAL DEGREES

DOCTOR OF PHILOSOPHY

Andrew P. Brown
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
BA, Metropolitan State University of Denver, 2009
Major: Marriage and Family Therapy
Dissertation: The Relationship Among Male Pornography Use, Attachment, and Aggression in Romantic Relationships

Jerevie Malig Canlas
MS, Brigham Young University, 2012
BA, Brigham Young University–Hawaii, 2008
Major: Marriage, Family, and Human Development
Dissertation: The Influence of Family Relationship Satisfaction and Perceived Work-Family Harmony on Mental Health Among Asian Working Mothers in Singapore

Patrick Bartholomew Dillon
BS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Civil Engineering
Dissertation: Shear Strength Prediction Methods for Grouted Masonry Shear Walls

Mark Jeffery Jensen
BS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: Energy Process Enabled by Cryogenic Carbon Capture

Adam Kenneth Johanson
MS, Iowa State University, 2009
BS, Brigham Young University, 2007
Major: Physics and Astronomy
Dissertation: Radio Emission Toward Regions of Massive Star Formation in the Large Magellanic Cloud

Lance Morgan Moses
BS, Brigham Young University, 2007
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Fluorescence Imaging of Analyte Profiles in an Inductively Coupled Plasma with Laser Ablation as a Sample Introduction Source

Joshua Robert Novak
MS, Texas Tech University, 2012
BA, Anderson University, 2010
Major: Marriage and Family Therapy
Dissertation: A Longitudinal Study of Therapist Emotion-Focused Therapy Interventions Predicting In-Session Positive Couple Behavior

Serena W. Peterson (Yuan Wen)
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: The Effect of Microstructure on Transport Properties of Porous Electrodes

Lexie Y. Pfeifer
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
BS, Brigham Young University–Idaho, 2005
Major: Marriage and Family Therapy
Dissertation: Facilitative Implicit Rules and Adolescent Emotional Regulation

Eric Blaine Quist
MS, University of Southern California, 2010
BS, Brigham Young University, 2004
Major: Electrical and Computer Engineering
Dissertation: UAV Navigation and Radar Odometry

Travis Michael Rampton
BS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Mechanical Engineering
Dissertation: Deformation Twin Nucleation and Growth Characterization in Magnesium Alloys Using Novel EBSD Pattern Analysis and Machine Learning Tools

All candidates listed for graduation will be awarded degrees subject to completion of requirements.

Chad Isaac Rogers
BS, University of Utah, 2006
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Optimization of Nonadsorptive Polymerized Polyethylene Glycol Diacrylate as a Material for Microfluidics and Sensor Integration

Felix Ruben Jimenez Rondan
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
Major: Physiology and Developmental Biology
Dissertation: The Biology of Claudin 6 (Cldn6) in the Developing Mouse Lung

Timothy John Ruggles
BS, Brigham Young University, 2011
Major: Mechanical Engineering
Dissertation: Characterization of Geometrically Necessary Dislocation Content with EBSD-Based Continuum Dislocation Microscopy

Reza Asgharzadeh Shishavan
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: Nonlinear Estimation and Control with Application to Upstream Processes

Gajendra Shrestha
MS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Biology
Dissertation: Exploring the Antibacterial, Antioxidant, and Anticancer Properties of Lichen Metabolites

Dean Keith Stolworthy
MS, Brigham Young University, 2012
BS, Brigham Young University, 2009
Major: Mechanical Engineering
Dissertation: Advancing Biomechanical Research Through a Camelid Model of the Human Lumbar Spine

DECEMBER 2014 GRADUATES

Mark Jeffrey Acerson
BS, Brigham Young University, 2009
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Synthesis of 4′-Ester Resveratrol Analogues, Chromium Trioxide Oxidation of Terpenes, and Synthesis of Mimics of (-)-Englerin A

Pankaj Aggarwal
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: High-Performance Polymer Monolith for Capillary Liquid Chromatography

Justin Colonial Bagley
MS, University of Alabama, 2008
BS, University of Alabama, 2004
Major: Integrative Biology
Dissertation: Understanding the Diversification of Central American Freshwater Fishes Using Comparative Phylogeography and Species Delimitation

Bryce Douglas Bunting
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
BS, Brigham Young University, 2006
Major: Instructional Psychology and Technology
Dissertation: Being Transformed by Being a Peer Mentor: An Examination of High-Impact and Transformative Peer Mentor Experience

Debolina Chatterjee
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Simple, Label-Free and Non-Instrumented Analyte Quantitation by Flow Distance Measurement in Microfluidic Devices

Mark Tyler Wilkinson Ebbert
MS, University of Utah, 2012
BS, Brigham Young University, 2007
Major: Biology
Dissertation: Role of Epistasis in Alzheimer's Disease Genetics

Anneke M. Garcia
BA, Montana State University, 2004
Major: Instructional Psychology and Technology
Dissertation: Analyzing the Instructional Methodologies and Ideologies Underlying English As a Foreign Language Textbooks in China and Evaluating Their Alignment with Assessments and National Standards

Stewart Grover Gardner
MS, Brigham Young University, 2005
BS, Brigham Young University, 2003
Major: Microbiology
Dissertation: Studies of PhoU in Escherichia coli: Metal Binding, Dimerization, Protein/Protein Interactions, and a Signaling Complex Model

Natasha Marilyn Iri Gillette
MPA, Brigham Young University, 2000
BS, Brigham Young University–Hawaii, 1998
Major: Educational Leadership
Dissertation: Faculty-Student Interaction and the Educational Outcomes of Native American College Students: A Comparison of First-Generation and Continuing-Generation Students

Basseem Bishara Hallac
BS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: Kinetic Experimental and Modeling Studies on Iron-Based Catalysts Promoted with Lanthana for High Temperature Water-Gas Shift Reaction Characterized with Operando UV/Visible Spectroscopy and Fischer-Tropsch Synthesis

Melissa Ellen Smith Hansen
BS, Brigham Young University, 2011
Major: Physiology and Developmental Biology
Dissertation: The Role of Ceramides in Mediating Endotoxin-Induced Mitochondrial Disruption

Ammon Ikaika No Kapono Hepworth
MS, Brigham Young University, 2010
BS, Brigham Young University, 2010
Major: Mechanical Engineering
Dissertation: Conflict Management and Model Consistency in Multi-User CAD

Cary Ann Johnson
MA, Brigham Young University, 2004
TESOL Certificate, Brigham Young University, 2001
BA, Adams State University, 1998
Major: Instructional Psychology and Technology
Dissertation: Holding Hands and Drying Tears: Effectiveness of Student Employees in Promoting a Successful LMS Implementation

Chad A. Jones
BS, Weber State University, 2010
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Ion Structure and Energetics in the Gas Phase Characterized Using Fourier Transform Ion Cyclotron Resonance Mass Spectrometry

Supriya Singh Kanyal
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Fabrication, Characterization, Optimization and Application Development of Novel Thin-Layer Chromatography Plates

Kamyar Keyvanloo
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: Preparation of Active, Stable Supported Iron Catalysis and Deactivation by Carbon of Cobalt Catalysis for Fischer-Tropsch Synthesis

Moses Lemon Banda Khombe
MPA, Brigham Young University, 2009
Major: Educational Inquiry, Measurement, and Evaluation
Dissertation: A Desk Study of the Education Policy Implications of Using Data from Multiple Sources: Example of Primary School Teacher Supply and Demand in Malawi

Jonathan Leo Krein
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
BS, Brigham Young University, 2008
Major: Computer Science
Dissertation: Replication and Knowledge Production in Empirical Software Engineering Research

Aaron Dudley Lewis
MS, Brigham Young University, 2011
BS, Brigham Young University, 2008
Major: Chemical Engineering
Dissertation: Gasification of Biomass, Coal, and Petroleum Coke at High Heating Rates and Elevated Pressure

Nitesh Madaan
Major: Chemistry
Dissertation: Synthesis and Characterization of Complex Molecular Assemblies on Surfaces

Travis John Moore
MS, Brigham Young University, 2009
BS, Brigham Young University, 2006
Major: Mechanical Engineering
Dissertation: Application of Variation of Parameters to Solve Nonlinear Multimode Heat Transfer Problems

Evan H. Nakachi
MS, University of Hawaii at Manoa, 2008
BS, Brigham Young University, 1985
Major: Exercise Sciences
Dissertation: Unilateral Traditional Weight Lifting Generates Greatest Acute Upper Body Power Output

R. David Norton
MS, Brigham Young University, 2008
BS, Brigham Young University, 2005
Major: Computer Science
Dissertation: Communicating Affective Meaning from Software to Wetware Through the Medium of Digital Art

Carlos Andres Osorio Murillo
Major: Civil Engineering
Dissertation: Design and Implementation of an Inverse Modeling Framework Using the Method of Anchored Distributions

Thomas L. Packer
MS, Brigham Young University, 2006
BA, Weber State University, 2002
Major: Computer Science
Dissertation: Scalable Detection and Extraction of Data in Lists in OCRed Text for Ontology Population Using Semi-Supervised and Unsupervised Active Wrapper Induction

Daniel Joseph Park
BS, Brigham Young University, 2009
Major: Electrical and Computer Engineering
Dissertation: B1 Mapping for Magnetic Resonance Imaging

Rebecca L. Plimpton
BS, Brigham Young University, 2007
Major: Biochemistry
Dissertation: Chaperone-Mediated Folding and Assembly of β-Propeller Proteins into Cellular Signaling Complexes

Wendy W. Porter

Academic Procession

ORDER OF THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

President, Board of Trustees, and Administrative Officers
Official Guests
Faculty
Candidates for Advanced Degrees
Class of 2015

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE ACADEMIC COSTUME

The significance of the academic costume is determined especially by the sleeves and hoods.

Doctors wear the round bell sleeve; the gown is faced down the front and barred on the sleeves with black velvet or color indicating the degree; the doctor's hood is large. The doctor may choose to wear the gold tassel on the cap.

Masters wear the long, closed sleeve, with a slit near the upper part of the arm; the master's hood is of more moderate size.

Bachelors wear the long or pointed sleeve. The color of the tassel indicates whether the degree is in the field of arts (white), fine arts (brown), music (pink), or science (golden yellow).

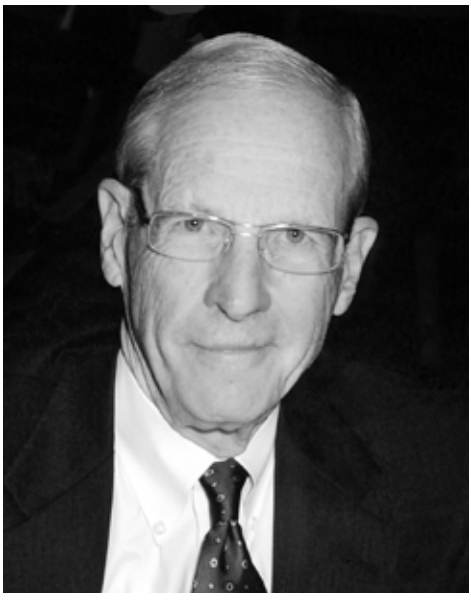
Honorary Doctoral Degree



DONALD B. DOTY

Surgery wasn't always the plan for Dr. Donald B. Doty. "I liked surgery, but I didn't like surgeons very well," recalls Doty of his early medical school days. It took an intelligent and humble mentor to change his opinion of a field he believed was full of overconfident doctors. After a forty-year career performing and teaching cardiovascular and thoracic surgery, Dr. Doty has mentored hundreds of surgeons of his own to become well-rounded doctors.

Dr. Doty graduated from Stanford University College of Medicine in 1962 and trained in general surgery at the Los Angeles County + USC Medical Center until 1967. He served as major in the U.S. Army Medical Corps from 1967 to 1969, assigned to the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research and the U.S. Army Surgical Research Team in Vietnam.

After his military service Dr. Doty specialized in cardiovascular and thoracic surgery at the University of Alabama Medical Center.

As a young medical school student, Doty met his future wife, Cheryl, while she was home for the summer from BYU. After two years of letter writing, phone calls, and visits between Provo and Palo Alto, California, they married in 1961. They have two sons. Some of Doty's favorite memories when his children were young were the quiet conversations that were had on ski lift rides during the winters.

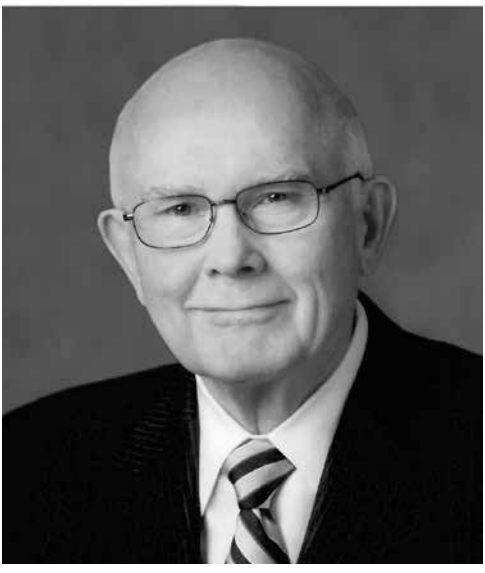
Early on in his medical career, Dr. Doty took on the roles of both surgeon and teacher. He has taught surgery at the University of Iowa College of Medicine and the University of Utah College of Medicine and has written four textbooks on cardiovascular surgery. He co-wrote Kirklin/Barratt-Boyes Cardiac Surgery, the definitive textbook in cardiac surgery. He is also the founding director of the annual Core Curriculum Review in Cardiovascular and Thoracic Surgery, the most popular and innovative review course for surgeons preparing for the Thoracic Surgery Board examination. Much of his teaching broadened the perspective of the young surgeons he taught. "When you get so super-specialized, often a lot of the most interesting things of medicine get neglected," Dr. Doty says. "You become a technician instead of a real doctor."

Dr. Doty has created a lifetime of Church service in many capacities, including bishop, stake president, regional representative, and area authority. After his retirement in 2004, he and his wife, Cheryl, served a nine-year mission chairing the Missionary Department Health Services—a role that brought many blessings. "Whenever you are serving somebody, the Lord blesses you," says Doty. "The blessings are not tangible most of the time. They are the way you feel about yourself and about what you have done."

For his great contribution to thoracic and cardiovascular surgery, for his generosity in sharing his skills in bettering the health of many, and for his faithful example as a Church leader, Brigham Young University is pleased to confer upon Donald B. Doty the degree of doctor of science and Christian service, honoris causa.

Commencement Speaker

DALLIN H. OAKS



Elder Dallin Harris Oaks has served as a member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints since May 1984. As president of Brigham Young University for nine years—starting in 1971, just after the explosive expansion of the sixties—he led the university through a period of maturing, deepening, and refining and also the establishment of the J. Reuben Clark Law School.

He is a 1954 graduate of BYU, having majored in accounting. During his education at BYU he met and married June Dixon, who finished her degree at BYU in 1965. They had six children. She died in 1998, and in 2000 Elder Oaks married Kristen M. McMain, also a BYU alum (EdD, 1988).

After his graduation from BYU, Elder Oaks enrolled at the University of Chicago Law School, where he served as editor in chief of the law review. Following his graduation in 1957, he clerked for Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court. After several years of practicing law in Chicago, he served as a law professor at the University of Chicago until his appointment as president of Brigham Young University.

Elder Oaks has been an officer or member of the board of many business, educational, and charitable organizations, including five years as chairman of the board of directors of the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS). He is the author or coauthor of many books and articles on religious and legal subjects. In May 2013 the Becket Fund for Religious Liberty awarded him the Canterbury Medal for "courage in the defense of religious liberty."

After his service at BYU, Elder Oaks served as a justice of the Utah Supreme Court from 1980 until he resigned in 1984 to accept his calling to the apostleship.

As a special witness of Jesus Christ, Elder Dallin H. Oaks has dedicated his life to the service of the Master. It is our honor to have him with us at today's commencement exercises.
